

"Nothing is as energising as stepping beyond your limits."

Keith Haring

Space Empowerment

CURIOUS · BRAVE · INSPIRING

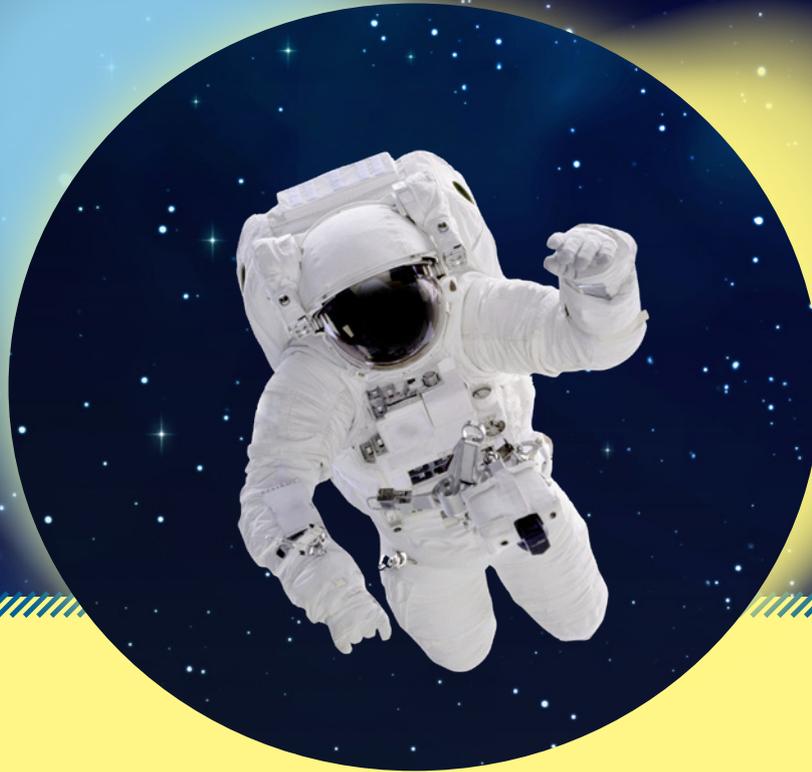

Does assertively taking control to make your dreams and wishes come true sound great? Unfortunately, women often don't reach their own goals. Not because they lack the required skills, but because they don't have sufficient trust in their own competence. No matter how big your dreams, you need determination, courage, creativity, and joy to reach them. Follow in the footsteps of Dr Insa Thiele-Eich and Dr Suzanna Randall, two inspiring women on their way to making history as the first female German astronauts.

Our workshops are designed to give women courage!
Take life into your own hands, dare to try new things, and capitalise on your career opportunities.

Your goals in mind Targeted questions create clarity and self-confidence, such as: What is my personality type? What fears and worries affect me?
Which of my values are most important? What resources do I have and where can I get support? You will soon see your opportunities in a new light!

Start your journey with us, get out of your daily grind, and set free your inner astronaut. You will be strengthened through reflections and exercises from leadership development techniques. You will build rockets in a team, float virtually through the International Space Station, and work in a real space suit! Believe in yourself and take consistent steps towards your goals.

Exceed your limits

Claudia Kessler is an entrepreneur and visionary. As a graduate engineer, she is seen as a forwards-looking leader in the space industry. Her inspiring talks encourage thousands of people to get immersed in the depths of space. In 2017 she founded Astronautin GmbH with the goal to encourage a more female-focused space industry. Currently, her main purpose is sending the first German female astronaut into space. Claudia is a pioneer who encourages women to believe in their own dreams and put them into action.

This isn't rocket science!

Our team of female space industry experts and management coaches offer women incredible opportunities to work on your own self-development. We will not only take the first German woman to space, but will also support women in all areas of industry and society to help you succeed.

www.astronautin.net

Contact

Inka Helmke
T +49 162-9724273
info@astronautin.net

Latest information on workshop locations, dates, and coaches can be found at:
www.astronautin.net/workshop

ASTRONAUTIN® GMBH
Donandtstraße 35
28209 Bremen